A Path Appears

Transforming Lives, Creating Opportunity

“Hope is like a path in the countryside. Originally, there is nothing – but as people walk this way again and again, a path appears.”

—Lu Xun, Chinese essayist, 1921

A Path Appears, from the creative team that brought you the groundbreaking series Half the Sky: Turning Oppression into Opportunity for Women Worldwide, follows intrepid reporters Nicholas Kristof and Sheryl WuDunn and actor/advocates Malin Akerman, Mia Farrow, Ronan Farrow, Jennifer Garner, Regina Hall, Ashley Judd, Blake Lively, Eva Longoria, and Alfre Woodard to Colombia, Haiti, Kenya, and throughout the United States as they uncover the harshest forms of gender-based oppression and human rights violations, as well as the effective solutions being implemented to combat them.

The three-part series aired on PBS as a special presentation of Independent Lens in early 2015 as part of the highly regarded Women and Girls Lead initiative. Through heartrending, inspiring storytelling, A Path Appears takes viewers on a journey across the country, and across the globe, to drive home the universality of gender inequality and the roots of vulnerability. The series leads viewers to a deeper understanding of these critical issues and the proven methods of bringing about change.

“Sometimes the chance to make a difference comes in unexpected ways and places.”

—Nicholas Kristof & Sheryl WuDunn

Work will involve maintenance, odd jobs, and repairs at Cookson facilities and nearby communities, and the team may be called on to help chauffeur kids back and forth during the Center's day-time programs.

Cookson has room for 20 people at the site. Sleeping quarters are upstairs in an air-conditioned, two-story lodge that features bunk beds. Accommodations include full dining/kitchen area, bathrooms and showers, a free laundry, and a covered back porch with tables and outdoor grills.

Missioners will furnish their own bedding, pillows, towels, personal items, closed-toe shoes or boots, work clothes, and gloves.
